Financial Markets Follow In Wake of Farming Boom

RAIL STOCKS IN GREATEST DEMAND

Finance Now Directing Attention to Matter of Consumption

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 27.—Dollar wheat was reached and passed on the board of trade today in one of the biggest sessions seen since the war. The wheat advanced to a maximum of more than six cents a bushel in the last few minutes of trading after yesterday's seven cent jump, carried the December delivery to $1.01 7-8 cents a bushel and the May delivery to $1.00 3-8.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Financial markets resumed their forward push today in the wake of the farming boom, but the swift pace was cut down somewhat by heavy realizing in all categories.

Wheat again proved the bellwether with advances of 4 or more cents a bushel, but corn, rye, oats and barley were only slightly higher. Profit-taking shaded most of these gains, however, in later trading.

Cotton got up about $1 a bale before turning back to around its closing level of yesterday.

Bar silver reflected optimistic activities at the London economic conference with a spurt of 11-8 cents an ounce, to 36 1-4 cents. The British pound sterling advanced to a post-war standard high at $4.33 1-2, and leading European exchanges reached new peaks for the past year.

Trading in the share market was extremely active most of the day with the ticker tape generally several minutes later than floor transactions. Rail stocks, aside from a few of the recent sporting industrial specialties, were in greatest demand. Peak prices were attained in the first hour or so and then

Seek to Organize Akron Tire Workers

AKRON, June 27.—While executives of Akron's huge rubber manufacturing companies maintained silence the American Federation of Labor today opened a campaign to unionize the city's thousands of tire builders.

Acting on instructions from the Washington headquarters of the A. F. of L., the Summit County Central Labor union issued a call for a mass meeting of rubber workers on Friday night. Handbills announcing the meeting were distributed near the strong rope-shop factories.

An attempt to organize rubber workers was made seven years ago. An independent union enlisted 2,000 of the 30,000 workers and passed out of existence.

JAMES LAFATCH JURY DISAGREES; IS DISCHARGED

Deliberation Terminates In Deadlock at 3:45 A. M. Today

REPORT MAJORITY ASKED ACQUITTAL

Nine Ballots Said to Have Been Taken During 9-Hour Debate

(By Associated Press)
Unable to reach a verdict after deliberating more than ten hours, the jury of six men and six women hearing the case of James LaFatch, 21, of Akron, charged with highway robbery in the holdup of the Peoples drug store here, was discharged in common pleas court, Lisbon, at 3:45 a. m. today.

Nine Ballots Reported
Nine ballots were taken by jurors, it was reported at the court house this morning. The majority, it is said, favored acquittal of the defendant, the vote running as high as 8 to 4 in favor of finding LaFatch not guilty.

Other ballots were reported at 7 to 5 in favor of acquittal while reports on early ballots said the jurors were deadlocked in a 6-to-6 count.

The case was given to the jury at 4 p. m. Monday after a charge by Judge J. H. C. Lyon of Youngstown who is exchanging benches with Judge W. F. Lones. The jurors ate supper and at 4:55 they began deliberations in the case in the jury room of common pleas court No. 1.

Jurors sent several notes to Judge Lyon, asking directions. Their first ballot, reports said, showed them to be about evenly divided on the verdict. Continuing deliberations until 1:45 a. m., the jury was granted a 30-minute recess for lunch and then was taken back to the jury room.

After several more ballots Judge Lyon was notified that a verdict is impossible because of disagreement. The jurors were recalled to the court room and dismissed.

Will Be Reassigned
Judge Lyon announced that the case will be reassigned for a second hearing at which Judge Lones will probably preside. LaFatch was again released on bond of $7,500 which was posted in his behalf shortly after his indictment by the April grand jury.

LaFatch was taken into custody on March 20 by Akron detectives.

Five witnesses were called by the defense in the attempts to prove that LaFatch was in Akron when the holdup occurred here. A sixth witness, an Akron gasoline station operator, testified that three youths, suspected of having perpetrated the holdup, drove up to his station at 9 a. m. the morning of the holdup and that LaFatch was not in the auto which he recognized as that owned by the defendant.

The defense admitted that the machine used in the holdup was LaFatch's but continually maintained that the defendant had loaned it to a friend who is named in a secret highway robbery indictment returned by the April grand jury.

Counsel for the defense today announced that additional evidence to aid in the fight for LaFatch's acquittal has been obtained in the last 48 hours.

And summoned as the first witness was the central figure of the inquiry, better known to the public as an art patron, than as a banker—Otto H. Kahn. Two partners, George W. Bollenberger and Benjamin J. Butterweiser, were to share the witness stand with Kahn.

NEFF IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Canfield Man, However, to Carry Fight to Court of Appeals

Cyrus H. Neff, prominent Canfield business man, today was sentenced by Judge George H. Gessner in common pleas court, Youngstown, to a life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary for the fatal shooting last October of his wife Mary.

Neff was convicted on a second degree murder charge by a jury in common pleas court two months ago, a motion for a new trial being overruled by Judge Gessner last week.

Continuing his fight for freedom, however, Neff, through his chief counsel, Clyde W. Osborne, today announced that he will ask a review of the case before the district court of appeals which convenes again in October.

Bond of $20,000, posted by Neff when the motion for a new trial was submitted, was allowed by Judge Gessner to be continued pending the review of the case by the appellate court. Neff is residing at the home of a sister in Canfield.

Pronouncement of a life sentence was made by Judge Gessner immediately on Neff's appearance on the Mahoning county court at 9 a. m. today. The life sentence is mandatory on a second degree murder conviction.

Neff's wife, asleep in a front room of their home, was instantly killed when a gun which her husband was holding was discharged. Neff claims the shooting was accidental.

EUROPE'S GOLD BLOC PLOTTING STABILIZATION

World Economic Conference In Throes of New Development

WILL DEFEND GOLD TO THE LAST DITCH

Observers Believe Scheme Is Challenge to U. S. Price Raising

LONDON, June 27.—The world economic conference this morning was in the throes of a fresh dramatic development precipitated by the unexpected action of gold bloc countries in trying to force European monetary stabilization irrespective of American desires or what happens to the American dollar.

Representatives of the central bank of France, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium met secretly to perfect plans which involve forcing Great Britain to stabilize along with continental countries.

Will Stand By Gold
From this meeting came a declaration by one of the conferees that gold would be defended to the last ditch.

Many observers expressed the opinion that this scheme is, in effect, a challenge to President Roosevelt's price-raising program which the gold bloc members maintained would force a depreciation of their currencies and would be disastrous.

The bankers decided this morning to ask the Bank of England to make a declaration to the effect that it would not be in Great Britain's interest to see continental currencies depreciated.

Meanwhile, the British were sitting tight regarding their attitude, but it was learned that a representative of the Bank of England was conferring this morning with Leon Fraser, president of the bank for international settlements.

The situation simmered down to this, according to well-informed conference circles: Success or failure of the gold bloc program depended on Great Britain's decision.

Two Courses Open
The latter was faced with the alternative of joining to maintain the present level of currencies and helping to keep France and other gold standard countries on that basis, or of deciding to form an Anglo-American monetary alliance and continue with the present United States and British programs.

England avowedly is not ready to return to the gold standard yet, and she would in effect be doing this if she agreed to the stabilization scheme.

On the other hand, she would suffer trade losses were France and other countries forced off gold, with a resultant depreciation of currencies, in relation to the pound.

Limit Is Removed On Prescriptions

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, June 27.—Ohio physicians may prescribe liquor without limitation under the provisions of the Smolka law, effective since June 15.

This opinion was given by Attorney General John W. Bricker on request of the supervisor of permits of the bureau of industrial alcohol.

Prior to passage of the law by the legislature, physicians were allowed to prescribe only half a pint to any one patient every ten days. The Smolka bill was intended to make the state regulations conform with federal statutes.

When the bill was passed the federal limit was one pint every ten days. Later, however, congress lifted all restrictions. The Smolka bill stipulated that the Ohio limit should be the same as "now" permitted by the national government.

The attorney general, saying his opinion was backed by court decisions held that the language of the bill should be interpreted as of the date it became effective and not when it was passed.

Akron Man Slated For Federal Post

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 27.—Fred E. Swineford of Akron, appeared today as a leading candidate for the soon-to-be-filled position of Ohio administrator of public works.

A long list of ranking Ohio Democrats are understood to have endorsed him.

Among his backers are said to be Governor White, State Democratic Chairman Henry G. Brunner, and former governor, Vic Donahey.

Meanwhile, it seemed probable the Ohio set-up under both the home loan act and the public works administration would be announced soon.

Swineford formerly was chief of maintenance and division engineer for the Ohio state highway department.

Accused of Murder

Mrs. Lottie Coll

NEW YORK, June 27.—Lottie Coll is now accused of first degree murder, for which the penalty is death in the electric chair.

The 25-year-old widow of Vincent Coll, slain "bad man" of gangland, was arrested last week, with two men, on suspicion. The detectives accused them of a string of holdups. Last night they were charged with killing Miss Mollie Schwartz, 21, during an attempted robbery.

When police told Mrs. Coll that the men, Joseph Ventre and Thomas Pace, had confessed, Mrs. Coll smiled.

"I'll do my talking at the trial and not till then," she said.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGES FILED

Fred La Belle, Youngstown, Named in Grand Jury Indictments

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, June 27.—Embezzlements totaling $14,506 were charged today against Fred A. La Belle, secretary of the chamber of commerce and former director and secretary treasurer of the Mahoning Valley Sanitary district, in a report of the county grand jury.

La Belle posted bond of $2,500 on each of four indictments charging he cashed four vouchers ranging from $910 to $8,500 and converted the funds to his own purposes. He was given until July 15 to plead by Judge J. H. C. Lyon.

"I am innocent of any wrong doing," he said, "all I ask is that you suspend judgment."

La Belle on June 5, resigned as an officer of the sanitary district, saying he did not wish to embarrass any one who had appointed him.

The indictments followed a lengthy grand jury investigation of the accounts of the $9,500,000 meander reservoir project which was constructed and administered by the sanitary district.

CLEVELAND WOMAN'S ASSAILANT AT LARGE

Mrs. Juliet Spero, 49, Had Originally Planned To Visit Mrs. Anna Kaplan Marcus, A Second Cousin, Here

BLAME GEM THIEF IN SLAYING

Trip To Salem Saturday Was Postponed; Body of Victim, Stabbed and Beaten, Is Found In Bathroom

Why Mrs. Juliet Spero, 49, of Cleveland Heights, suddenly abandoned plans for a visit with a Salem relative and remained at her home where she was brutally slain by a burglar who ransacked the house and stole jewels presented the victim's newly-married daughter, today was among the mysteries Cuyahoga county authorities faced in their attempted solution of the baffling crime.

Mrs. Spero, stabbed and beaten to death as she lay asleep in a second floor bedroom at her Cleveland Heights home, had planned to come to Salem Saturday for a weekend visit with Mrs. Anna Kaplan Marcus, East State st., her second cousin and very close friend. Mrs. Marcus today said she was mystified as to the slain woman's reason for suddenly abandoning the trip.

Arrangements for Mrs. Spero's visit to this city were made when Mrs. Marcus was in Cleveland three weeks ago and with the victim and other relatives, attended a funeral there. Mrs. Marcus and Mrs. Spero were neighbors while the former, the widow of the late Louis Kaplan of Salem, resided in Cleveland Heights for four years.

Will Go To Cleveland
First word of the tragedy came to Mrs. Marcus Monday through a telephone call from a sister, Miss Rose Cohen of Cleveland. She plans to go to Cleveland early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Marcus was grief-stricken over the death, saying "we had so many good times planned for this summer. She was to come to Salem for two weeks in July and we were going to have a great time all by ourselves."

Mrs. Spero's only child, Mrs. Elene Spero Tegen, 22, was married on Sunday, June 19, just a week prior to the discovery of the tragedy which interrupted her honeymoon trip at Detroit, Mich.

The dead woman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Spero. The father was formerly associated with a brother, Charles Spero, in business in Leetonia. The Speros are also related to Alex Bernstein who was formerly in business in Salem.

Police Face Stone Wall
Just as Mrs. Marcus is mystified over the failure of Mrs. Spero to follow out plans for her weekend visit here, so are police facing a stone wall as they continued their investigation. A maid at the Spero home who was given a three-day leave, to start Saturday, when Mrs. Spero came to Salem, was being grilled by authorities today.

After she is reported by police to have pretended for some time she was a deaf mute to avoid answering questions, the maid consented to talk this morning. All she told, however, was that she had reported for work at 8 a. m. Monday, when Mrs. Spero's body was still uncovered in her bedroom.

This maid, 42, who had been hired to do no other work than to clean the family was away and left. The daughter visited the maid at the Heights police station this morning and, weeping as she left, denounced police for holding the woman.

Rings Are Stolen
A conviction that Mrs. Spero had recognized her assailant and was killed because the person she discovered ransacking the house for jewelry Saturday night feared she would disclose his identity was expressed by police. A wedding ring and an engagement ring were taken from the dead woman's fingers, but her husband, Benjamin Spero, discovered the first report that much other valuable jewelry had been taken, was unfounded.

Gems Are Found
The gems were found in the place Mrs. Spero usually kept them, he reported to police after he returned by airplane from Toronto where he was on a business trip when he learned of his wife's death. Mrs. Tegen and her husband likewise sped home by airplane abandoning a planned wedding trip to the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago. Police believe the thief or thieves sought and took presents given the newlyweds at their recent marriage.

Slot Machine War Hinted in Bombing

MANFIELD, June 27.—The home of Joseph Ryan was damaged early today by the explosion of what police believed was a black powder bomb. Ryan and his wife, although hurled from their bed, were uninjured.

The blast wrecked a side porch directly under the room in which the Ryans slept and tore a gaping hole in the side of the dwelling. Windows in the room and the house adjoining were shattered.

Police Chief William A. Lauer is investigating the possibility that the bombing is the result of a slot-machine "war."

Send Delegates To Columbus Meeting

Five delegates of the Salem Unemployed league will leave Friday for Columbus where they will attend the state and national convention for unemployed organizations.

William Finnegan, Lewis Briskin, George Matthews, Charles Berg and Orrin Thompson are the League's delegates. They will return on July 6.

The regular meeting of the Salem league will be held Wednesday night at the Memorial building when new officers will be installed. Plans will also be made for a benefit dance at the building Thursday night. Ladies will be admitted free.

Committees reported progress at the community garden saying all vegetables have been planted and the garden worked over once. They asked all those receiving relief from the city to report for work at the garden inasmuch as the project has been undertaken entirely for their benefit.

Asks Radio Permit

WASHINGTON, June 27.—William G. E. Demuth, of Unruhville, O., has applied to the radio commission for a permit to construct a new radio station which would operate on 1,370 kilocycles during daylight hours, with 100 watts power.

I see where some of the "big industrialists" are kicking on him already. Well, the president couldn't have appointed a wet nurse for any more needy group of people than the "big ones."

THE OPTIMISTIC STAGE

Prime Minister Ramsay Mac-Donald, who frequently balances the British picture with his attitude of optimism, believes the economic conference has outlived the period of greatest danger. The first fortnight, he explains, usually produces pessimism. Delegates meet they make preliminary explorations of each other's viewpoints and they clash. If they can be held together until the rebound, there is a decent prospect of survival.

There can be no doubt about the conference having gone through this stage. It was started half out of its diplomatic calm in the opening session by Prime Minister Mac-Donald's unexpected remarks on the forbidden subject of war debts. It was given a rough jolt by America's about-face on stabilization. It was threatened by announcement of France's intention to break it up. Delegates were discouraged by potential formation of an European bloc to wage economic war against the United States.

It seemed for a time that nothing could come out of such cacophony but one final ear-splitting discord which would leave the conference wrecked. But frightened, perhaps by the nearness of adjournment unless more conciliatory attitudes were shown, delegates seem to have reversed themselves. At least, improvement has been real enough to permit Mr. Mac-Donald's innate optimism to show itself without making him ridiculous. In this country, where people had subscribed heartily to an attitude of hopelessness in view of the manifest obstacles placed in the way of cooperative action, the sign is taken for what it is worth. It is heartening to know that those who are on the scene have taken a new lease on hope.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S LEVER

Administrator Johnson's direct appeal to the public for support of the administration's industrial recovery program cannot be dismissed lightly by those who will be affected by it. Public opinion is a powerful lever with which to force action, and its control is in the hands of the administration at this time.

It is recalled that the mere threat of "going to the country" during the recent session of congress was enough to send many unruly senators and representatives scurrying for cover. On several occasions President Roosevelt made good use of the publicity facilities at his command. In all likelihood, he will feel free to use them for the purpose of forcing business into line.

Two dangers are in evidence at the present time—dangers which may bring politicians into conflict with business. One is the tendency of fundamental industries to hold back their plans for internal organization until they see which way the wind is blowing. This has a paralyzing effect on the speedy progress which must be made, to effect employment and earning power before the beginning of another winter.

The second danger is, in General Johnson's words, "wild-cat price lifting schemes." It was to be expected that a considerable number of unscrupulous business interests would take advantage of an inflationary trend to increase their profits without increasing the share which is turned back to labor. Inclusion of a licensing provision in the industrial recovery act was for the express purpose of muzzling them.

These threats to the program and others which will be made in the course of time demand replies from public opinion. Administrator Johnson declares. It is the people's recovery which is being threatened; it is, therefore, a public responsibility.

bility to greet each instance of non-cooperation with a display of displeasure so severe that no industry or no individual within an industry will dare to face it. If the administration could depend on that displeasure being shown, it would have the most powerful lever in the world to move obstinacy.

CALM BRITISH TENNIS
$1 WHEATBy Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOW WISE are the British, how calm, reminding you of a sea hawk, poised aloft, watching for a fish to appear, then diving and getting the fish.

Those modern "innocents abroad," Americans sent to London's conference, report that England "straddles everything, praises every plan, and refuses to agree on any."

Plans that innocent Americans suggest are not, in Europe's opinion, of any consequence. We were sent for first, to cancel the war debts. That, thank heaven, hasn't been done.

Second, to keep the dollar, now free from the gold basis ball and chain, from becoming too active in this world, and promoting American trade.

Third, to cut down our tariff, and throw our manufacturers and workers into direct competition with the cheap labor and low living standards of other countries.

Nothing much has been done in any of these three directions thus far, praise the Lord. So England, in simple suits, watches, and straddles.

IN INTERNATIONAL affairs, our representatives in foreign countries may truly be called "innocents abroad." Americans are not so innocent in other directions. For instance, we know something about tennis. In yesterday's games at Wimbledon five Americans won, and Ellsworth Vines, champion American, beat G. R. D. Meredith, English, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Why not make diplomats of our tennis players and tennis players of our diplomats?

Tennis is not important.

WHEAT that you could have bought a little while ago for 42 or 43 cents a bushel sold yesterday for $1 on the grain market of Fort Worth, Texas.

Many farmers will welcome the battle cry:

"Goodbye gold dollar! How do you do, dollar wheel?"

HERBERT R. WILKIN, who is a Detroit banker of consequence, not a red Russian Bolshevik, makes the interesting statement that the closing of banks in Detroit was done by Wall Street powers "to get" Henry Ford.

The accusation will interest Mr. Cummings, attorney general of the United States, and President Roosevelt.

The financial gentlemen did not "get" Mr. Ford, an undertaking not easy in the case of a man with four or five hundred millions in cash on hand.

But whoever engineered the closing of those Detroit banks, if anybody did, caused hardship, worry and loss to tens of thousands that did not deserve such treatment.

The distinguished Mr. Pecora and the impartial and powerful attorney general might get more information from Banker Wilkin.

Now that he is cleared of the tax evasion charges, Wall St. wonders what the future has in store for Charles E. Mitchell, former head of the National City Bank. At right Mitchell is shown surrounded by admirers on his triumphant return to Wall St., where he climbed to financial power, and where, it is predicted, he will endeavor to regain prestige.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 27—The speakeasy phenomenon of the past three years has been that sedate cloister a hop-skip along the avenue in the 50's, known as "No. 21." It sets back from the street, had two well-kept patches of greenery and forbidding high iron fence. Also, a window, fringed with creeper.

It has been raided but once, and then, the legend goes, a "fix" to reduce rent. "No. 21" was head-lined as a trust for Libby Holman and Smith Reynolds. And clientele flexes from stage folk to the bonhomie of the Social Register.

On the ground floor a bar. On three upper floors dining rooms.

Admittance has developed into somewhat a parliamentary affair. Unless one is thoroughly known, it requires diplomacy to pass the portals. The only exception was a visitor from Ft. Worth—one guess only—who, when denied passage, announced grimly no one else might enter until he had been vied. He slid in pronto.

The proprietors are dilettanti known in speakeasy lingo as Jack and Charlie. So enormous were their profits they have opened up a week-end castle in Westchester accoutered with all the swank of a fashionable country club. And Jack and Charlie employ their leisure riding to hounds, high ball!

Gay White Way hoot: The two best lighted cities in the world from the air are Barcelona and Los Angeles.

They still work away upon the cathedral of St. John the Divine, a job requiring more than 20 years and still unfinished. I stopped in the other dusk and felt the affection toward the church, its venerable pilgrims. A kindly, deaf verger—a double for George Arliss sans monocle—detached from a group to offer service. I told him I just wanted to ramble. "I understand," he said, and tip-toed away.

Near the great church I tumbled upon a contrasting mood. A shirt-sleeved pipe-smoker was airing a white poodle on a leash. A plumed owner of a police dog, coming toward him allowed his charge loose. The master of the poodle called to him to put his dog on leash. Like most police dog owners, he wanted to show perfect control and did not budge. The poodle received a nip in the hindquarters and plus fours a beautiful rock in the jaw. And did I go skipping down the lane!

Long Island City is America's most baseball-conscious municipality—outside of Pittsburgh. Each nightfall and Sunday are a hundred and more sand lot exhibits, ranging from kids to settle-marrieds. Fallen stars such as Larry Doyle and Hughie McQuillen are chalked as players on fence bulletins. Each game has a crowd. Sometimes fastidiously and now and then a nat swing. The pastime brings out an army of peltaine peddlers, whose potations include everything from penny groke-poke to the 6-cent royal gorge of a hot dog imbedded in sauerkraut, called Bix Alex!

The tug of morbidity for the Queens county court house is also pronounced on Sunday. Crowds drift to the ancient "red-brick" structure and stand a long time—staring and whispering. It was where Ruth Snyder and Judd were tried.

During days of his art editorship of a trade magazine for which I was occasional contributor, I met Albert Snyder, slain husband of Ruth. He had the sensitiveness of the deaf. Melancholy had marked him. There is no analogy, of course, but I have known three other men, besides Snyder, who met violent deaths at hands of killers. In every case, particularly that of Arnold Rothstein, the victims were men of sunniness, glumness who patches of greenery and forbidding high iron fence. Also, a window, fringed with creeper.

The furor in France for youthful beards swept to New York. John Hutchins, the diction expert in his early 30's, has unfurled a set of jodavisions to the breeze. John Vandercook, Jr. also lends the boulevard an hirsute hurrah. This afternoon I saw a couple of bamboo cane-twirlers in front of Lindy's abloom with vandikes. Bob Scripps luxuriated magnificent follicle a couple of years ago, but became clean shaven when he suspected a fad was incubating.

When I feel life closing in I often dream of a Brittany chateau, a walled-in garden, a flowing beard and long walks with Mike. Cure. But none of the aussy beads. I want the sort in which one may always stir up a thrush or a few field mice. Like Grandpa's.

The Stars Say:

For Wednesday, June 28

A fairly active and interesting day is the augury based on the predominant mutual and lunar aspects. With the strong position of Neptune it is possible that intrigues, secret and subtle elements may engage the attention in transactions with mergers, rings or secret societies. Be careful in all such dealings lest there be misrepresentation, fraud or sordid aspects to affairs. Small change or journey is probable, with lively enough incidents in employment.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a fairly lively and eventful year, with an element of intrigue, conspiracy of strategem dominating affairs. It is advisable to be on guard against fraud, misrepresentation or subtle machinations, especially in relation to writings, documents or contracts.

A child born on this day may be versatile, lively and possibly predisposed to peculiar or radical points of view. It may succeed best through tact, diplomacy or conspiracy rather than direct measures.

Sunstroke Most Dangerous

During the summer months many persons suffer from sunstroke. This distressing accident can be prevented in most instances. It is usually traced to continued exposure to the rays of the sun, or to marked activity on a hot, sultry day.

I want to warn all my readers of the dangers associated with sunstroke. It is especially dangerous to young children and to the aged. No one will deny the beneficial action of sunlight. But moderation should be practiced especially when the day is hot and the humidity great. The victim of sunstroke is suddenly "overcome by the heat." He becomes pale and collapses to the ground. His skin is moist and clammy, the pulse weak and rapid, and the breathing is labored. As a rule, the pupils of the eyes become dilated and the sufferer lapses into a deep coma.

It is imperative that immediate medical attention be given. This is particularly important if the victim has a weak heart. While waiting for the physician, loosen the sufferer's clothing and, if possible, encourage him to drink water. He should be placed in a cool place, away from crowds and heat.

Sunstroke may prove to be a serious accident. A high elevation of the temperature of the body is always dangerous. If this occurs, place the sufferer in a tub of water kept cool with pieces of ice.

Keep him in the bath until his temperature has dropped to at least 102 degrees Fahrenheit. While in the tub massage the skin vigorously. This stimulates the circulation and aids in the restoration of the normal temperature.

Whenever possible, avoid strenuous and exerting work on a hot day. Children and elderly persons should not be exposed to extreme heat and sunshine. When working in the sun, take the necessary measures to prevent attacks of sunstroke.

Wear loose and cool clothing. It is a good plan to wear a helmet or hat that will protect the head, neck and back from the penetrating rays of the sun. Drink plenty of water at frequent intervals. Avoid alcoholic drinks.

Heatstroke is not the same as sunstroke. Heatstroke is a form of heat exhaustion caused by continued exposure to heat. This condition is commonly seen in stokers and others whose work requires exposure to severe heat. The signs of heatstroke differ from those of sunstroke.

In heatstroke the skin is wet, due to excessive perspiration. There are marked dizziness, weakness and muscular twitchings which are sometimes mistaken for an attack of epilepsy. In heatstroke, warmth and internal stimulants are necessary. The treatment must be supervised by a physician.

During hot weather avoid all unnecessary exertion. Frequent baths and plenty of fluids are helpful in preventing an attack of sunstroke. The diet should be nutritious but simple, consisting preferably of salads, fresh fruits, vegetables and plenty of fluids.

Linen Sees the World

By MARIE MAROT

TRAVELERS, sailing or arriving, seem to have turned to linen this year for the all-important travel outfit.

The fair traveler to the right wears a black linen dress with a little white organdie ruff. The cape is of black linen with an inverted pleat in back. Next is a jacket of natural linen, loose and self sleeved. The chances are that it will be worn evenings on the boat. In the center is one of the popular duster coats, this one in rough string colored linen. It has a neat row of buttons, turned-down collar and smartly gathered sleeves. The suit to the left is of silk, tie silk spotted with an old-fashioned calico design. Wide revers mark the jacket. Smart new hats are seen in the crowd below.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Preparing a Picnic Lunch

Even if there are minor inconveniences, there's nothing so pleasant as a meal taken out of doors. Whether you picnic at the seashore, the mountains or choose just open country, these meals always bring a certain feeling of peace and contentment. The serenity that always comes from hours spent in the open air. You may like to prepare a picnic lunch to take with you on your trip. Or you may like to prepare the meal out of doors.

Making Salads

Salads and sandwiches always have premier place in a picnic lunch. In making the salad up at home, care should be taken that it is very cold to start out with, and that it is carried in a tightly covered container. It is preferable to carry lettuce or salad greens wrapped in waxed paper, in a separate container, before spreading with mayonnaise. Spread the bread with mayonnaise, before starting. That is a sure precaution against having dried up, unappetizing sandwiches.

A delightful sandwich, to be prepared at home, is made by adding to two tablespoons of mayonnaise,

FLORISTS PLAN BUSINESS CODE

Will Cooperate with National Industrial Recovery Movement

Organization of the country's entire floral industry into a close-knit trade association to cooperate with the government under provisions of the recently enacted Industrial Recovery bill will soon take place, according to A. E. Gros, who just returned from Cleveland, where he attended a school of floral design, sponsored by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery association.

Nearly 1000 florists, from 10 states, were in attendance at the school, where they saw the latest flower styles and arrangements introduced, during the sessions, they heard addresses by a number of the industry's leaders.

One of them, the local florist said, was Frank J. Baker of Utica, N. Y., president of the F. T. D., as the association is known. Mr. Baker announced that steps were being taken to organize an Associated Florists' control board which would assume responsibility for drafting codes and rules of business procedure for the industry. On the board will be representatives of the industry's three great organizations: the Florists' Telegraph Delivery association, the Society of American Florists and the Wholesale Commission Florists.

Gros hailed the new bill as holding opportunity for the floral industry to accomplish more in its own interest than has been possible up to this time.

Florists to Cooperate

President Roosevelt's new bill is a great forward step and florists of America are anxious to do their full share toward increasing wages and putting more people back to work, Gros said. "Through the principle of self-reliance, this industry will be able to accomplish much, both in its own interest and in the interest of its patrons by the elimination of unfair business practices, regulation of production, allocation of crops and the establishment of a living wage scale. There is no doubt that the Industrial Recovery bill holds similar opportunity for every American industry and through its operation we looking for a definite national business upswing."

The home was visited by fire on May 1 and on May 3 Galloway was informed the policy made Laubscher the assured although, according to Galloway, Laubscher's interest includes only the house and not the contents, which, Galloway claims, belong to him and were insured for $500 in the same policy.

League Arbiters Meet Tonight To Act On Protest By Chicks

THE DAY IN SPORTS

CITY LEAGUE DEBATES
SEEK DEFINITE RULES

Members of the Salem softball board of arbitration are awaiting word today from the National Baseball Writers' association for the solution of a "knotty" problem which arose in local league competition last week and is the basis of a protest made by Calkins Chicks in a game lost to the Salem Hardware.

A decision of the umpire George Earley in calling "Lefty" Bradt out for failure to report after Bradt clouted out a double which sent in two runs brought about the debate with the umpire and the umpire with the arbiters. Bradt, it seems, had played two innings in the field, came to bat, was called out for not reporting.

Officials have written to Mgr. Billy Evans of the Cleveland Indians for a ruling in the matter while the board of arbitration has asked for an official ruling direct from the national rules and scoring body, the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Calling a batter out for not reporting is unique in that no rules in the baseball rule book provides for such action. In Rule 28 of Spalding's Official Baseball Guide, the following statute may aid in clearing up the situation:

"It is the duty of the captain of each team immediately to announce change of players, to the umpire and the umpire shall announce them to the opposing team and spectators."

"If the substitute takes the proper position assigned to him, any play which he makes is legal, in spite of the fact that the umpire may not have been notified and may not have made announcement of the substitution."

Apparently the main and only reason for inserting into the rules the request that players report or are reported by captains is for announcements to fans by the umpire. So, inasmuch as Umpire Earley does not make announcements to the stands, there is, in your writer's opinion, no necessity of reporting to him in case of substitutions.

If rulings from Evans and the Baseball Writers' association substantiate your writer's opinion fans will probably find that the Hardware has a defeat chalked up against it while the Chicks will have a perfect record.

It appears that, had not Earley ordered Bradt out, the Chicks would have won—the score was 9-8. Hardware, and if the umpire's ruling was in error, the board can hardly do anything else but declare it a win for Reed Calkins' lads.

Here's a recommendation that your writer would like to have the board of arbitration adopt for the future of the season:

That any player approaching Official Scorer Lewis Briskin to make complaints against his scoring judgment is taxed to the extent of one hit from his batting record.

This is recommended to stop bickering among certain players who are taking their batting average too seriously. Briskin is capable, probably knows more than the complaining players. The latter should be penalized for their unfair criticism.

And speaking of scoring a ruling which has been asked from the Baseball Writers' association pertaining to the power of an umpire in reversing decisions of the official scorer.

CALKINS UPSETS BILLIARDS, 9-1; CIGARS TRIUMPH

Ruling by Billy Evans of Cleveland Reverses Early's Decision

Receiving a ruling from Billy Evans of Cleveland, reversing a decision of Umpire George Earley, members of the softball league board of arbitration will meet at the Memorial building tonight for final action on a protest filed by Calkins Chicks as an aftermath of a game won from the Chicks by the Salem Hardware last week.

The protest, filed by Manager Ted Scott of the Calkins team, took issue with Umpire Earley for calling out "Lefty" Bradt for failure to report in the Chicks-Hardware game. Bradt was called out after he had connected for a double and scored two runs which, however, because of Earley's ruling, were not permitted to count.

Evans' ruling in the matter, referred today to Joseph Reese of the arbitration board, declared "the umpire erred; the player is eligible to bat despite his failure to report."

A. E. Beardsmore, chairman of the arbitration board, reported that all members will be called together immediately after this evening's two league games at Centennial park field.

The game was thrown out of league standings today with the Chicks and Hardware tied for the lead. The Chicks won their fourth game Monday, fielding faultlessly and hammered out 11 hits to upset the Schafer Billiards, 9 to 1.

Scott added to his lead in the batting race by connecting for three hits in four trips to the plate. The United Cigars won over the Deming company, 11 to 10 in a loosely played contest.

SENATORS AGAIN DEFEAT INDIANS

Increase Lead in Title Race to Two Games; Athletics Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Washington Senators have been hitting the ball to all corners of the lot, in their march to the top of the American League, Manager Joe Cronin's pitchers also have been playing an important role.

Trim Indians, 4-3
With a 4 to 3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians yesterday, the Senators not only increased their lead to two full games over the idle Yankees but won their eighth successive game.

Just how effective Washington pitchers have been is shown in their record of allowing opposing teams only 65 hits and an average of 2.5 runs a game in the club's last eight triumphs.

The Athletics got away to an early lead against the White Sox and then with Big Jim Peterson effective relief ball pounded out an 8 to 2 victory.

In Drama of Plane Heroism

Three of the principals and the plane in the Lake Michigan tragedy which cost the lives of three heroic men are shown above. Forced down while on a flight over the lake, the craft sank, but not before the men had made a raft from gasoline tanks, on which they placed Mrs. Charles Rennie (center), who was rescued 20 hours later by an Ann Arbor ferry. Charles Rennie (right), her husband, was drowned, as was James Gillette of Traverse City, Mich. (left), pilot-owner of the plane, and Peter Keller, a mechanic.

Morton Downey went overseas to sing in London both before and after he became widely known in broadcasting.

The first time he made a radio appearance, but only locally. Now on his second trip he will go on the air under similar circumstances, and in addition will sing for the folks back home via WABC-CBS.

The broadcast has been set for 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Both NBC and CBS are putting on special daily programs this week for their southern networks in observance of Cotton week. The series of summer concerts from Philadelphia, presented by musicians of the Philadelphia orchestra, will start on WABC-CBS a week from Sunday night.
